

The Sarcoïdose Belangenvereniging Nederland (SBN) was founded in 1978. The SBN, which currently has about 2400 members, has grown into an accessible and socially involved sarcoidosis association.

The Dutch Sarcoidosis Society is committed to optimizing the diagnostics and treatment of patients suffering from sarcoidosis and strives after maximizing the involvement of these patients and their inmates in all aspects of society.

These objectives are pursued by organizing meetings to promote contacts among fellow patients and to give information and training to patients, by supporting and stimulating scientific research, and by providing written and oral information for members and other interested persons and organizations.

More information about sarcoidosis and the SBN can be found on our website www.sarcoïdose.nl.
